Like any aesthetic judgment, the best Fortnite skins are in the eye of the beholder. What you may consider terribly gauche, another player would drop all their V-bucks on. So how on Earth do we begin compiling the best ones? Using our empirically great aesthetic judgment, of course, but we're also mixing some all-time rarities and pop culture crossovers with more recent and readily available skins you can actually get your hands on right now - or at least in the near future on the store. So don't be mad if we missed the pride and joy of your own inventory - there are a lot of skins out there now, after all. 1 Spider-Man Nananananananana - Spider-Man! The Caped Crusader himself swings into Chapter 3 Season 1, in a choice of outfits. Both monochromatic options have their merits, but nothing catches the eye like those familiar reds and blues. He's available as a battle pass reward, and the aforementioned black and white variations are waaay along the tier list, so prepare to get grindy for Spider. 2 LeBron James LeBron James is the LeBron James of basketball. Over 19 seasons he's managed to somehow exceed even the most hyperbole-infused expectations of him when he joined the league as a teenage sensation and maintained a career average above 27 points, 7 rebounds, and 7 assists. He's not the single best player in the league at one specific thing - but he's one of the best at absolutely everything. Why wouldn't you want to use this man's godlike image while you play a video game? 3 Mecha Team Leader It's very Fortnite, isn't it? Bright colors, a sense of a deeper lore kept arm's length away, brutal headshots committed by an entity with a burger for a left foot and an anthropomorphized strawberry on the right. Mecha Team Leader first appeared in Season 9 and is still available on the store at the time of writing. 4 Ariana Grande 10.7 million people watched Ariana Grande's bizarre and innovative concert within Fortnite. That's a number that more than warrants the diminutive singer's appearance as a playable skin. There are astronaut helmeted spacefarer variations out there, but for maximum impact on the battlefield you really just want Ariana being Ariana. Like so. Trivia: the name Ariana Grande is Spanish for 'large Ariana'. 5 Black Knight First showing up in season two as a tier 70 reward skin, the Black Knight has become incredibly sought after, owing to the game's increasing popularity and the skin's absence from the store afterwards. People sell their Fortnite accounts with Black Knight skins unlocked - it's like a pair of box-fresh Yeezys. While most Fortnite skins make full use of the color spectrum, this one's incredibly restrained, the black only broken by some glowing red eyes and the odd bit of blood-red trim. You look at it and go: yep, this person is definitely going to kill me. 6 KAWS Skeleton Artist Brian Donnelly has been making skeleton merch under the name KAWS since 2007, when Fortnite was just a twinkle in Epic's eye. The skeleton skin first appeared in Chapter 2 Season 8 and unlike some on this list, it regularly pops up on the store so you can earn it pretty easily. There's something about its slumped, despondent posture that sets it apart from the cheery crowd you board the battle bus with. It says 'I'm not hugely up for this battle' and sometimes we all feel that. 7 Harley Quinn So the legend goes, Dr. Harleen Quinzel was a psychiatrist who fell in love with one of her patients at the Arkham asylum, one 'Joker' whose influence on her was not altogether positive. Her first appearance in DC comics was in 1999, but Harley Quinn took her sweet time to appear in Fortnite, cropping up in Chapter 2 Season 1. Since then the skin's returned to the store once every 193 days so she's still something of a rarity. 8 Xenomorph In space, no one can hear you in space. So sayeth the famous tagline for 1979's Alien (don't look it up, just trust us) and while it's a scary thought it doesn't really apply to Greasy Grove or Camp Cuddle, where everyone can hear you just fine. Still, the xenomorph is as terrifying and beloved as a phallic death-being can be, and first appeared in Chapter 2 Season 5. It crops up on average every 122 days, so if you really want it you've got a fighting chance. 9 Jellie Another easy to get skin next, and Jellie's gregarious eyes and nonchalant way of holding a high-caliber sniper rifle belie the absolute savagery beneath. Originally released as part of the Fish Food set in Chapter 2 Season 1, the skin's always popping up on the store so you'll have no problem tracking it down. That one boot, presumably salvaged from the ocean itself, is extremely cute. And we didn't know we found sea anemones cute before. 10 Eco One part Captain Planet, one part Daft Punk, Eco is in fact a clever and rather detailed homage to the game's first map. The original map layout holds a warm and fuzzy spot for many players who were there in 2017 when the game originally released, and ever since it disappeared in the wake of in-game events that changed the landscape, fans have been asking for its return. In Chapter 2 Season 6, they almost got what they asked for - the map came back... as a skin. Better than nothing, we guess. And never say never - that actual map return may be just around the corner. Written by Phil Iwanik on behalf of GLHF. Everyone's favourite, classic fruit-headed hero! Fortnite | Epic Games 2. Creepy Bear Creepy Bear was actually a limited-edition Valentine skin. But still, a bit creepy. Fortnite | Epic Games 3. Astro Jack This Travis Scott-inspired astronaut is, ahem, out of this world. Fortnite | Epic Games 4. Midas Players who reached Chapter 2's Level 100 could get this shady looking villain Fortnite skin for 950 V-Bucks! Fortnite | Epic Games 5. Fishstick This exotic fish-faced legend is a rare Fortnite skin, and is said to have been inspired by Darwin from The Amazing World of Gumball. Fortnite | Epic Games 6. Peely He's part of the Banana Bunch and started dressing like a dapper spy in Chapter 2. Fortnite | Epic Games 7. Raven You can get this skin in Fortnite: Battle Royale and is named after the old, scary poem by Edgar Allan Poe. Fortnite | Epic Games 8. Blaze Part of the Lava Series, the fiery Blaze is a updated skin and can be seen in Fortnite Chapter 2: Season 3! Fortnite | Epic Games 9. Rippley This Slurp Squad hero is a friendly blob of... who-knows-what. He's much nicer than his enemy, Sludge. Fortnite | Epic Games 10. Guff Guff is a Rare Outfit who first appeared in Fortnite Chapter 2: Season 2 and is bundled with a Fluffle Bag. Are they part-chicken? Who knows! Fortnite | Epic Games The most popular Fortnite skins in Chapter 3 Season 3 are primarily those released in the ongoing season. The current Battle Pass has received great reviews, so it's not surprising that a lot of players use skins from it. However, there are some skins that were released a long time ago but are still very popular. This article takes a look at the 10 most popular Fortnite skins in the current season. Note: This list is based on the analysis of forum replays that were uploaded to Fortnite Skillup. Ranking the most popular Fortnite skins in Chapter 3 Season 3 10) Sabina - 1.34 skins per 100 players Sabina is one of the most popular Fortnite skins in Chapter 3 Season 3. She was released with the Battle Pass, and players can unlock her on the eighth page. Sabina is a mysterious character, and no one really knows what she is up to. According to Sunbird, Sabina left her parents. Here's what the NPC says when interacting with her: "Your parents miss you. But they understand you must do it alone." Sabina has seven different styles, so there is something for everyone's taste. On average, 1.34 players use this skin in every lobby. 9) Surf Witch - 1.36 skins per 100 players Surf Witch was released back in June 2020, but she's still a very popular skin in Fortnite Battle Royale. While this skin looks good, it's surprising that it's ranked so high, considering that it hasn't been out in the Item Shop for more than four months. Many players have fallen in love with Surf Witch's style, which has become very popular since it was released. 8) Backlash - 1.45 skins per 100 players Backlash is one of the most popular Fortnite skins in the current season (Image via Epic Games) During Chapter 2 Season 4, Epic Games released a Battle Pass that had many Marvel heroes and villains. The entire season was centered around comic book characters, which is why the developers decided to release Fortnite's own superhero skins. Backlash is one of the female superhero skins that was released this season, and she has become very popular. Like every other skin in the set, Backlash can be completely customized, which makes her very valuable. 7) Joltara - 1.46 skins per 100 players Joltara is another popular superhero skin (Image via Epic Games) Backlash is not the only popular superhero skin in Fortnite Battle Royale. Many players have also used Joltara in Chapter 3 Season 3, and she is slightly more popular than Backlash. It is obvious that most Fortnite players prefer female skins, mostly due to their smaller frame. However, it is important to note that these skins don't give players any competitive advantage as each skin has the same hitbox. 6) Lara Croft - 1.5 skins per 100 players Lara Croft is one of the most popular Fortnite skins in Chapter 3 Season 3 (Image via Epic Games) Lara Croft was released to Fortnite Battle Royale with the Chapter 2 Season 6 Battle Pass and is still incredibly popular. In fact, it's the most popular Fortnite skin from the Gaming Legends rarity. Lara is a well-known gaming icon, and her addition to Fortnite is perfect. Considering how good she looks and that she has multiple additional styles, it's not surprising that she's ranked so high on the list. 5) Focus - 1.5 skins per 100 players Focus is one of the oldest Fortnite skins on the list. She was released in July 2019 (Season 9) and has been relatively popular ever since. Focus has been released multiple times during Chapter 3 Season 3, so it's not surprising that it's popular. However, almost every other skin on the list has something special, so it's unusual to see such a simple skin ranked so high. 4) Adira - 1.63 skins per 100 players Adira is another skin that was released with the Chapter 3 Season 3 Battle Pass. Considering that she can be unlocked on the third page of the progression system, many players have obtained her earlier in the season. Adira is a fierce warrior who looks incredible, which is why she's one of the most popular Fortnite skins this season. She has eight different styles, and each one looks fantastic. 3) Son Goku - 1.63 skins per 100 players Son Goku has become one of the most popular Fortnite skins in a short period of time (Image via Epic Games) Not only is Son Goku one of the most popular anime characters, but he's also one of the most sought-after Fortnite skins. What's even more impressive is the fact that the character was released for the game on Tuesday, August 16. It took him less than a week to get to the third spot on the list. Considering how amazing he is, we can expect Son Goku to stay in the top five for a long time. 2) Aura - 2.4 skins per 100 players Aura is a simple skin that costs only 800 V-Bucks. However, what makes it one of the most popular Fortnite skins is its reputation. Aura is a well-known "tryhard" skin that is used by many streamers, which is how it's become famous. Aura was released back in May 2019, but it's always been extremely popular. Considering that it's very cheap and has multiple styles, its position on the list is not surprising at all. 1) Evie - 2.4 skins per 100 players Evie is the most popular Fortnite skin in Chapter 3 Season 3 (Image via Epic Games)The most popular Fortnite skin right now is Evie. She was released with the Chapter 3 Season 3 Battle Pass and has been used in many promotional materials.Evie is a member of the Peace Syndicate and is supposedly very important. Players can unlock her as soon as they purchase the Battle Pass, which has contributed to her incredible popularity. Edited by Rachel Syiemlieh Coming soon!
